THE DOOM OF THE "ALABAMA." No single event since the commencement of the war has caused so much public delight as the destruction of the Alabama by the United States gunboat Kearsage. The long and hitherto undisturbed career of this outlaw among nations, with her record community, except where that sentiment is pathy for the murderous Rebellion that flaunts its black fing on sea as well as on land.

We congratulate the country that one of our pational Vessels has accepted the bold de- Congress. flance of the buccaneer SEMMES, and put an end to his infamous career. By this one act heaped upon our naval service, and won for himself imperishable renown.

THE WAR AND COTTON.

Until the Southern States rebelled against the Federal Government, they possessed almost exclusively the cotton market of the world. That is to say, all the non-cotton producing countries of the civilized world depended on our American Southern States for their chief supply of cotton. That one fact gave the South great wealth; and presuming on that, the planting interest of that section, which had grown arrogant and aristocratic under the baneful influence of the institution of slavery, claimed, and for a long while actually exercised, an undue political power in our national politics. Cotton, in being a staple of superior commercial importance, and produced principally in the Southern States, was positively converted into a potential element of government among us, so that in the course of time, it came to be a common and accepted motto, that "Cotton is King." But the moment the Cotton States seceded from the Union and took up arms to maintain that act of treason, those States lost the advantage they had long derived from the cotton trade. That act of revolt against the national Government not only brought on a war which stopped the production of the plant in the South, but it so effectually closed the ports of that section of the country against the market of the world, that if it had raised the usual amount of cotton for export, the product could not have been shipped. Thus the folly of the Southern cotton planters and slaveholders, has destroyed the only or main source of all their prosperity and power. They literally killed the goose that laid the golden egg when they initiated a civil war, which has prevented the foreign world from getting its usual quanforced it to seek that indispensable commodity from other sources.

We are not at all gratified to think that this country has forever lost so valuable an element of commercial wealth and power. We would much have preferred that the United States should keep prolonged and undisputed possession, or monopoly rather, of the cotton traffic, even though the South enjoyed the immediate and largest benefit of that monopoly. But it is too late now to cry over spilt milk. The infiduation of the Southern cotton lords provoked a conflict with the Federal Government that has, by cutting England and Europe off from their supply of the staple from this country, forced them to get cotton from America has been so nearly made up from other sources, that when the present civil war ends, it may be seriously doubted whether the trade which the Southern cotton planters have lost can ever be wholly regained. The only thing that could save it in such a contingency as has happened, would be the cheapness of slave labor; but as slavery must perish in this country in the progress of the war to its final conclusion, that important advantage in growing cheap cotton must pass away from us forever. Late statistics of English cotton receipts for 1863 and 1864, show that cotton is coming forward in increased quantities to compensate the deficiency of this country. The augmented supply of the last twelve months amounts to 311,165 bales, or more than fifty per cent. Increase over the receipts of the provious year. This supply has been as fol-

Cf this total, 72,004 American and West India bales may be subtracted, since it is probably old growth, and not current production. The remainder is 310,165 bales as the actual increase yield of the latter year over the former. Let the compound ratio production be continued for but a very brief period, and the existing famine in this textile will be at an end. As the matter now stands, the East Indies, Chins, and Japan, Egypt and Brazil, contribute more than we do to the world's

The growth of the new States in the Northwest is due in a large measure to the judicious legislation of Congress, both as regards the disposition of the public lands, and the encouragement given to their improvement and settlement. The free-larm system has drawn to our shores a vast number of immigrants from Europe, who have taken up small tracts of ground on the remote frontier, and invested in their cultivation whatever money they brought over with them, in addition to their skilled labor. The land thus occupied rendered all the contiguous country more attractive, so that the tide of emigration has, for years past, set steadily westward, and is rapidly bringing into use a wide expanse of territory which all indications assure us is destined to be the richest, most productive, and powerful portion of the United States.

Illinois has more voters than New Hampshire, Vermont, and Connecticut. Ohio has more voters than Maine, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island. And as they have exceeded their elder sisters in population so will they in process of time excel them in wealth.

The same liberal policy of the general Government which has operated so beneficially and thus far in the settlement and development of our extensive national territories, should be persistently pursued until the whole continent of burning ships, plundered cargoes, and from ocean to ocean and from the lakes to the outrages and indignities upon unarmed guif is covered with a homogeneous and sallors and passengers, has created a senti- thriving people, working out, under the fosment of disgust and horror in every civilized tering care of a central political system, their own individual happiness, and the grandeur outwelghed by a sordid and mercenary sym- and felicity of one common national organization and life. Every legislative measure that contributes to that end should be cheerfully supported by every Representative in

The only real value of the public lands to the nation lies in what private industry and Captain Winslow has wiped out the reproach enterprise can bring out of them for the good of all and the progress of civilization. Hence from eight A. M. until ten P. M. to-day, and, if the nation gains more in giving them away to actual settlers than in selling them, in the proportion that its first mode of getting them occupied and developed is more certain and expeditious than the latter.

And here let us remark that those persons who complain that the Government has made ing is a list of the members: certain grants of the public lands to rallway companies in the West do not rightly appreciate the great advantage which the whole country has derived from those donations. The construction of the rallways through the Western States has tended, in a very large measure, to fill wild regions with an energetic population, whose labor and intelligence have much more than repaid the Government in revenue, direct and indirect, for the thousands of acres given to the various railroad corporations that have interlaced all the Western country with those iron highways which carry population and wealth with them wherever they go.

In the last ten years there have been built at the West, 3656 miles of railroad, at a cost of $253,820,464, mostly by eastern or imported capital. The Illinois Central Rallroad Company alone sent into Illinois $30,000,000, and built a road which enabled the Federal Government to sell $11,000,000 worth of land, and the Company to sell $20,000,000 more to actual settlers-making over $61,000,000 concentrated in that State by the operations of one company. The chief effect of this has been to swell the aggregate receipts of grain at Chicago during the ten years, to 158,544,554 bushels, which at an average price of 66 cents per bushel, (the value for 1860 at Chicago), would be worth $126,000,000, thus exceeding by $31,000,000 the cost of the railroads through the agency of which the grain was made available. In 1861, the grain increased to tity of cotton from the United States, and 47,697,409 bushels, the Southern routes being closed; and in 1862 the amount was 60,150,390 bushels. These figures but indicate the extent of that prosperity which has developed so rapidly during the last ten years in the northern section of the West.

THE SALE OF WORKS OF ART AT

THE SANITARY PAIR. We would call attention to the sale of pictures and other works of art, to commence this evening, July 5, at eight o'clock, and to be continued on the following evening at the same hour. Many valuable works will be offered, and it is hoped that the public, by a numerous attendance and liberal bidding, will show their appreciation of the generosity of the artists and others of New York, Boston, and our own city, who other countries, and the consequence is, have so largely contributed those valuable gifts that the accustomed amount obtained from for the benefit of the Sanitary Fair. A most lifelike portrait of the Empress Eccente by Fac-NANI, of Paris, will be offered. Also a watercolor drawing by the Princess MATRILDE, cousin of Narotzon III, and a marble "Agnus Dei" by the German sculptor STRINHAUSER.

The portrait of COBDEN, by FAGNANI, was sold for one thousand dollars at the sale of pictures at the Metropolitan Fair in New York, The Art Gallery will remain open this afternoon and evening and to-morrow from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M., when this beautiful collection will be finally closed to the public. Let none miss this last chance of seeing the finest exhibition of works of art ever brought together on this Continent.

STARRED TO DEATH -A shoemaker named Benry Force was stabbed at his boarding-house, No. 118 Lombard street, last evening, by a drucken soldier named Henry O'Neil, O'Neil, who is home on a thirty days' furlough in consequence of a bruised arm, entered the house at the time named, and a quarrel ensuing between him and some of the inmates, he seized a knife and cut Force in the thigh, severing the main sriesy. The wounded man was immediately taken to the Pennsylvania Hospital, where he died a short time afterwards. He was a native of Mount Holly, and leaves a wife and child, who reside at Bordentown. He was working at his trade in the house in which the affair occurred. A hearing in the case is now progressing at the Inion street Station.

ALLEGED MURDER .- An inquest will be held by the Coroner this afternoon, in the shooting affair between William Maybury and policeman Edward Walton, from the effects of which shot, fired from a revolver in the hands of the policemen, Maybury almost instantly expired. The deceased, it is alleged, was engaged with others n firing off pistols in front of the Hand in Hand Engine house, Ninth street, above Poplar, and though requested to discontinue the act still per-sisted in it. Waiton then attempted to make an arrest, and being foiled in the attempt, drew his revolver and fired, the ball taking effect in May-

CHILLED-IRON SAFE.

"NOT DEAD, BUT LIVETH."

DAVID EVANS, Ess.,
Of the Firm of Evans & Watson It would seem from your late netice in THE EVENING Talkorars and other newspapers that you have opened a school of instruction for testing Lillie's Chilled-Iron Safe, acting, as we presume, in a two-fold capacity :- first, as people—two very responsible positions, truly.

Now, as we are very destrous to aid you in every way, in this important work (Important to the thief, that he may not uncleasly employ his time criminally, or expose his person; important to the people, that they may know and feel that their treasures are secure), we propose, in the future, to warrant every Bank Safe that may be sold by our Agent at Philadelphia proof against your scientific attainments to the art o glary; and as you have so disinterestedly volunteered to instruct and collighten the burglar and protect the people in this art, we shall take the liberty to give you timely notice of the arrival of each Safe, and we not only ask you to test each Safe on their arrival upon your new scientific play, as publicly announced, but we claim that we have the right to instat upon it in your new position as a public teacher and benefactor; and if this is not a ufficient reason, we have still another to urge.

Your present facilities for a satisfactory test are very indicient, as you have but one very imperfect Safe to operate upon, and if you accept our proposition, your field of operations will be much enlarged, and your efforts may prove much more satisfactory to the public We now admit, as we ever have, if you assected to grind or drill a hole through the door in the front of the lock, at any point, it is fatal, and if done to any way practical to the burglar, the Sale is not burglar proof.

The first Sale we shall expect you to test, as above

oposed, is a Safe just ordered for a bank in the inte-er of the State. We expect to arrive in Philadelphia, and to be ready for a test, on Monday, the 10th of July, at 10 o'clock A. M , and should there be any delay in it urival it will be announced in time. We trust you will
